Product information

Player hardness: 50
Color: green
Stick size: JR

The WARRIOR ALPHA LX JR is a hockey stick designed for younger, up-and-coming players who already value a clean feel for the puck during practice and games. This model incorporates features from the higher-end Alpha sticks of the 2021/2022 season and is designed for junior players for whom durability, balance, and an easily controllable blade are particularly important.

- Technology: 122 Construction
- Material: standard carbon
- Training Benefits: Designed for puck control and endurance
- Construction: enhanced durability and long service life
- Blade: balanced blade for precise puck control
- Curvature: W03 or W28
- Hardness: 50
- Size: JR, left or right, green with a neon yellow-green blade

Especially at the junior level, a stick makes a big difference when players are working on mastering their first technical skills on the ice. The 122 construction with carbon provides a noticeably stable foundation for regular practice sessions at the club, without losing the character of a junior stick. The well-balanced blade helps players control passes and guide the puck cleanly, which is especially crucial for young players still developing their skills.

When selecting a stick, in addition to the JR size, special attention should be paid to the correct blade orientation and the preferred curvature—W03 or W28.
