The WARRIOR ALPHA LX PRO SR is a composite hockey stick designed for senior players who refuse to compromise on fast shots and precise puck control. The Saber Taper-2 design combines features from low-kick and mid-kick constructions, ensuring the stick responds consistently during both quick shots and powerful shots.

- Technology: Saber Taper-2 design
- Shooting Characteristics: Combination of low-kick and mid-kick characteristics

On the ice, this model's strengths are particularly evident in the combination of a quick shot release, a stable feel in the shaft, and a blade that keeps the puck noticeably lively. Club players and ambitious senior players in particular benefit from this when they need to seamlessly combine direct shots, wrist shots, and tight puck control at high speeds. The concave shaft shape fits comfortably in the hand and aids control in high-pressure situations along the boards or when shooting from the slot.

When selecting a stick, the blade angle, curvature, and stiffness should match your playing style and physical strength.
