Especially in everyday club play, a stick that isn't unnecessarily top-heavy and remains predictable in many game situations makes sense. That's exactly where the WARRIOR LX3 PRO SR fits in: light to handle, smooth on contact with the puck, and tuned to suit a variety of player styles. The various curves and flex options allow for personal customization, whether the focus is on a direct shot feel, control, or a familiar blade shape.

The most important factors in making a selection are finding the right stiffness, bend, and blade orientation to match your own playing style.
