Especially for regular play in a club setting, the combination of senior length and 85 stiffness is ideal when you don't want a stick that's too soft. This is particularly helpful for accurate passes, shots, and controlled power transfer. The W03 curve is ideal for players who carefully select their blade shape and want to tailor the stick to their own playing style. This makes this model particularly suitable for ambitious club players who aren't just looking for any stick, but for a clearly defined model.

When selecting a stick, consider the blade orientation, desired curve, and the stiffness range that best suits your playing style.
