The WARRIOR ALPHA ONE PRO WITH NAVY MESH is a hockey helmet designed for players who want to combine a lightweight feel with sophisticated protection and a snug fit on the ice. The one-piece plastic shell keeps the overall weight pleasantly low, while strategically placed IM PAX Foam padding on the temples, back of the head, and forehead provides additional cushioning during harder impacts.

- Technology: IM PAX Foam
- Protection Areas: Targeted padding on the temples, back of the head, and forehead
- Functionality: Absorbs linear and rotational forces of varying intensities
- Construction: Sturdy, lightweight one-piece plastic shell
- Adjustment: 270° AdaptFit for easy size adjustment
- Ventilation: Optimized air circulation through the shell
- Care: Pads are washable and can be purchased separately
- Variant: navy, SR, sizes S through L, with mesh

This combination really shines during regular training and games: The helmet sits lightly on the head, can be adjusted quickly, and stays comfortably ventilated even during longer sessions. The grille is designed for direct use on the ice, while the replaceable inner pads are practical for everyday club use when equipment is frequently used and maintained. For ambitious junior players at the senior level and club players looking for a modern helmet design, this model is clearly geared toward functionality in everyday hockey play.

To ensure the right fit, be sure to check the helmet size—choose between S and L.
