During the game, having a clear view of the ball, teammates, and open spaces is often crucial. That's exactly where this face guard comes in: Its design closely resembles what many players are familiar with from indoor and field hockey, combining a clear field of vision with a secure fit on the helmet. The adjustable chin guard helps ensure a perfect fit, which is especially important for club players and youth players who train regularly.

When selecting a face guard, make sure the size (S, M, or L) matches your existing helmet.
