Product information

Protection size-1: JR

WARRIOR RISE JR is a protective gear set designed for youth players that focuses on the essentials: reliable coverage of key areas, lightweight construction, and enough freedom of movement for practice and games. For young field players in particular, it's important to have gear that protects without hindering movement.

- Product Type: Body protection for juniors
- Protection: Multi-layered foam padding on key body areas
- Construction: lightweight design with a focus on mobility
- Closure: flat-lying straps
- Ease of use: easy to put on and hassle-free for everyday hockey
- Jersey compatibility: Straps are less likely to snag on the jersey
- Agegroup: JR
- Sizes: S, M, L

In junior hockey, a balanced combination of protection and freedom of movement is particularly important. The multi-layered padding absorbs impacts and contact in key areas without making the upper body feel unnecessarily stiff. This is especially noticeable during quick changes of direction, one-on-one situations, and longer sessions on the field. The flat straps make it easy to put on the gear and, when worn with the jersey, provide a practical, everyday solution for club play.

To ensure effective protection, it's worth choosing a size based on your body type and how comfortable it feels under the jersey.
