Product information

WARRIOR ALPHA RISE SR is a shin guard designed for everyday hockey use, providing reliable protection for the lower leg during practice and games. Available in the senior size (14 inches or 36 cm), this model is primarily designed for adult field players looking for a clear sizing guide for their equipment.

- Product Type: Hockey Shin Guards
- Model: ALPHA RISE SR
- Age group: Senior
- Size: 14 inches / 36 cm
- Protection area: Lower legs during training and games
- IntendedUse: Field hockey, club training, and matches

Especially during regular club sessions, it's important to have equipment that doesn't unnecessarily interfere with movement during play and effectively supports contact with the stick, ball, and other players in hockey. A shin guard in this size fits into a setup designed for adult players and is intended to perform just as well during regular training as it does on game day. This makes it a particularly attractive option for club players who need a simple, sport-specific solution for leg protection.

To make the right choice, the length of the shin guard should match the player's height and the rest of their hockey equipment.
