Protection size-1: JR

WARRIOR LX PRO JR is an elbow pad designed for youth players that offers a noticeably better balance of mobility and protection. Especially in junior hockey, where there's a lot of hard work, blocking, and falling on the ice, it's important to have a pad that fits snugly and doesn't restrict arm movement.

- Construction: 3-piece design for greater freedom of movement in the elbow
- Padding: Compressed EVA foam pads with a textured surface
- Protection area: Additional reinforcement in key impact zones

Product information

- Closure: Repositioned Fantom-Stretch straps for improved support
- Fit: Snug fit to prevent slipping
- Inner lining: Stretch sleeve with breathable Poligiene lining
- Moisture management: Dries faster than conventional linings; moisture evaporates more quickly
- Size: JR, available in S, M, and L

The three-piece construction allows the elbow to move freely even during close-range stick movements, changes of direction, and one-on-one battles. At the same time, the padding is positioned where contact occurs most frequently during play. The redesigned closure keeps the pad closer to the arm, which is especially comfortable during practice and intense game situations because it requires less readjustment. The breathable inner lining helps keep you dry during longer sessions.

For a secure fit, be sure to choose the right JR size: S, M, or L.
