Product information

Protection size-1: SR

WARRIOR ALPHA LITE SR is an elbow guard designed for everyday hockey play, where mobility is just as important as a reliable construction. The three-piece design supports natural bending at the elbow and is well-suited for players who want to move freely during practice or games without the pad feeling stiff.

- Product Type: Hockey elbow pads
- Construction: three-piece design for natural freedom of movement
- Protection area: elbow, forearm, and bicep areas
- Padding: dual-density foam in the pads
- Functionality: Impact protection through strategically placed foam zones
- Closure: Flat-fitting, easy-to-use straps
- Fit: Straps do not snag on the jersey
- Sizes: SR in XS, S, M, and L

The flexible design really shines during frequent changes of direction, stick handling, and tight game situations. The protection follows arm movements more smoothly than simpler, stiffer models, while the padding in the elbow, forearm, and bicep areas provides additional safety during contact and impacts. The flat straps contribute to a secure fit and are less likely to cause discomfort, even when the jersey is tight-fitting or when you need to quickly put on your gear while switching between practice and a game.

For a clean fit, it's best to choose your size based on arm circumference and personal comfort.
