The WARRIOR QR5 40 JR is a junior hockey glove designed for young players, combining a snugger fit with enhanced stick feel and a comfortable fit. The design is modeled after the natural shape of the hand, hugging the back of the hand closely while remaining intentionally looser at the wrist. This facilitates quick movements during practice and games without making the hand feel constricted.

- Fit: snug cut, adapted to the natural shape of the hand
 - Protection: two layers of protective padding with varying densities
 - Reinforcement: additional plastic inserts for greater protection against impacts
 - Palm: designed for durability and a direct feel for the racket

Product information

- Inner material: dries faster than conventional liners
- Comfort: dry and comfortable feel during use
- Color: navy, red, black
- Size: 10 inches, 11 inches, 12 inches

Especially in junior hockey, the balance between mobility, protection, and feel is particularly important. This glove supports exactly that: The snug fit aids in stick handling and control, while the multi-layered construction better cushions impacts on the back of the hand and fingers. Added to this is an inner lining that wicks away moisture more quickly, making the glove more comfortable even during longer sessions on the ice.

When selecting a glove, it's worth checking the correct inch size to ensure that protection and freedom of movement go hand in hand.
