WARRIOR WARRIOR G7 JR is a youth goalie pad designed for beginners and those taking their first more intensive steps in goal. Especially during the developmental phase, it's important to have equipment that doesn't sacrifice flexibility for protection. The flexible thigh pad gives young goalies more freedom of movement while they're still developing their positioning, butterfly stance, and the ability to close their legs cleanly.

In everyday play on the ice, the balanced interplay of balance, control, and mobility is particularly noticeable. The wide knee pad supports stable positioning in the goalie stance, while the flexible construction helps players learn movement patterns cleanly without the pad feeling too bulky. This is especially important for parents, young goalies, and clubs when training, first games, and technical development are happening simultaneously.

For junior goalies, the size should be chosen so that the knee and pad work together smoothly in the neutral position.
