In everyday hockey, equipment that works without hassle is what counts. A zip hoodie can be quickly put on and taken off before practice, making it a great fit for players and teams who don't want to waste time moving between the locker room, the arena, and the ice. The black version keeps the look simple and appropriate for team uniforms or the trip to the game. Thanks to the front zipper, this top is more versatile than a classic hoodie, especially when temperatures fluctuate rapidly during practice or a game.

When choosing a size, it's worth considering the desired fit—whether you want the hoodie to sit close to the body or have a bit of room to wear over performance clothing.
