The WARRIOR WATER BOTTLE is a practical choice for practice, game day, and the bench. With a 0.75-liter capacity, it holds enough fluid for intense sessions indoors or on the field and fits well into the structured daily routine of club players, youth teams, and coaches. The cyan version features a clean, sporty design.

In hockey, every move on the bench often counts. A water bottle with this capacity is ideal for regular hydration breaks between line changes, during set breaks, or during longer training sessions. It's also useful for teams and clubs when uniform equipment is required and color variations help with identification. The WARRIOR WATER BOTTLE thus integrates seamlessly into training routines without drawing unnecessary attention or taking up space.

If your team uses multiple bottles, it's best to ensure that the colors of the bottles and accessories match.
