Product information

Textile dye: navy

Textile size-1: SR

The WARRIOR ALPHA THERMO NAVY SR JACKET is designed for cold days on the hockey rink. For club players and teams who want to stay warm before ice practice, on the way to the arena, or during breaks between sessions, a comfortable fit and reliable weather protection are what matter most. That's exactly where this model shines, with its water-repellent material and extra lining.

- Product Type: Winter jacket for hockey and training
- Fit: loose cut for comfortable wear over sportswear
- Weather protection: water-repellent materials
- Warmth: Additional polyester lining
- Pockets: 2 side pockets with zippers and an inside chest pocket
- Pants: Zippers at the outer ankles
- Adjustment: elastic waistband with drawstring
- Variant: navy, size SR in S through XXXL

In everyday hockey life, especially in winter, it's important that clothing can be slipped on quickly and doesn't restrict movement before and after getting on the ice. The loose fit provides room over training gear, while the lined design retains warmth. Zippers at the pant leg cuffs make it easier to put the pants on and take them off, especially when you need to change quickly. Reflective logos and details are a practical addition for trips to the arena or practices in low-light conditions.

The SR version is designed for adults; when choosing the right size, it's best to consider the desired range of motion over your other hockey gear.
