WARRIOR SHORTS COVERT TECH NAVY SR are lightweight hockey shorts designed for practice, warm-ups, and the walk to the locker room. The thin polyester fabric isn't bulky, and Wartech technology wicks sweat and moisture away from the body. This makes a noticeable difference, especially during regular club activities when sessions are back-to-back and you need your gear to perform without any fuss.

In hockey, you need shorts that don't restrict movement and remain comfortable even during intense activity. This is exactly where this model shines: The lightweight fabric feels unobtrusive, while the stretch panels on the sides provide extra freedom of movement. The side pockets are practical for training and on the court without detracting from the clean, athletic look.

When choosing a pair, consider the fit you want—especially whether you prefer a loose or more form-fitting style.
