In everyday hockey life, what matters is clothing that fits lightly and doesn't restrict movement—whether you're rushing to the locker room, warming up, or traveling to away games. That's exactly where this jacket shines: the lightweight polyester keeps the weight down, the lining is comfortable to wear, and the stretch sleeves support natural movement in the shoulder and arm areas. The side pockets securely hold small everyday items, while the collar and cuffs provide a clean finish.

To help you choose, take a quick look at the desired senior size to ensure there's enough room over protective gear or team uniforms.
