WARRIOR ALPHA THERMO NAVY SR PANTS are designed for cold training days on and off the ice, when warmth and freedom of movement are equally important. The loose fit provides room over your team uniform, while the water-repellent material and extra lining keep you comfortably dry and warm during winter training, on the way to the rink, or during breaks between sessions.

Product information

- Product Type: Lined thermal pants for hockey and winter training
- Material: Outer fabric, inner fabric, and lining made of 100% polyester
- Weather protection: water-repellent design
- Fit: loose fit
- Closure: elastic waistband with drawstring
- Pockets: 2 side pockets with zippers, 1 inside chest pocket as described in the set description
- Details: Zippers at the outer ankles, reflective logos and elements
- Color: navy, size SR in L, M, S, XL, XXL, and XXXL

For club players and teams who regularly take to the ice even in cold temperatures, uncomplicated functionality is what matters most in everyday life. The zippers at the outer ankles make it easy to put the pants on and take them off, especially when wearing shoes. The elastic waistband fits comfortably and practically without feeling tight. Thanks to the loose cut, the pants remain comfortable to wear even over other clothing, making them significantly more suitable for everyday hockey life than simple training pants.

The senior size should be chosen to fit properly over protective gear or team uniforms, depending on your preference.
