For club players and teams in particular, training often depends not only on the equipment on the ice, but also on clothing that easily fits into the weekly routine. A T-shirt like this is ideal when free movement, a sporty fit, and clear team identification are required. The TM Train CF model is designed for training and is therefore suitable for off-ice sessions as well as general athletic training or the trip to the locker room.

When selecting a size, take a quick look at the appropriate size within the SR line to ensure the shirt fits comfortably during practice and allows for sufficient freedom of movement.
