The black team version is particularly well-suited for clubs, coaches, and players looking for a uniform solution for practice days, game days, and group appearances. In hockey, this type of jacket is especially practical when you need an extra layer quickly—whether in the locker room, on the ice, or on the way home. The Stadium cut clearly positions this model within the teamwear category and makes it a practical addition to existing club apparel.

When selecting a size, it's worth checking the desired garment size within the SR range to ensure there's enough room to move over your gear and mid-layers.
