In hockey, in particular, it's not just the equipment on the field that contributes to the overall look—reliable clothing for trips to practice, tournament days, or team appearances is just as important. This polo shirt deliberately keeps the style simple and sporty. The olive color scheme has a subtle look and can be easily combined with other team apparel in everyday club life. For adults in the senior division, it's a practical choice when you don't want to be constantly changing clothes between the locker room, the bus ride, and the arena.

When selecting a size, the most important factor is finding the right fit within the range from S to XXXL.
