Sports Nutrition: Optimal Hydration

Feature: Pacific Citrus

NUTRIATHLETIC NA HYDRATION ELECTROLYTES Pacific Citrus is a sugar-free electrolyte powder designed for athletic activities—such as hockey practice, intense training sessions, or long game days—when a reliable source of hydration is essential. The Pacific Citrus variety offers a refreshing flavor and is particularly geared toward club players and teams who rely on a simple, sports-appropriate supplement during physical exertion.

- Product Type: Sugar-free electrolyte powder
- Function: To support hydration during sports
- Electrolytes: Sodium, potassium, calcium, and magnesium
- Flavor: Pacific Citrus
- Usage: Training, games, and general athletic activity
- SpecialFeature: Sugar-free

In hockey in particular, high intensity, short breaks, and frequent peaks in exertion follow one another in rapid succession. In such situations, an electrolyte drink is often more practical than a purely flavorless fluid intake. The combination of sodium, potassium, calcium, and magnesium is well-suited to typical scenarios involving sweat loss and athletic exertion, without making the product unnecessarily heavy. This makes this powder particularly suitable for regular team practices, tournament days, or off-ice sessions when clear and straightforward sports nutrition is needed.

If you're specifically looking for a sugar-free electrolyte source with a citrus flavor profile, this Pacific Citrus version is the right choice.
