In inline hockey in particular, the right wheel setup makes a big difference. A softer wheel can provide more grip on smoother surfaces and helps you feel more secure when turning, accelerating, and in tight game situations. The 76 mm diameter is a standard size found on many inline hockey skates and is well-suited for players who want to specifically replace or supplement their existing wheel set. During training, a 4-pack is also convenient when individual wheels on the skate need to be replaced without having to swap out an entire set.

Before installation, briefly check whether the 76 mm size is compatible with your existing chassis size and current wheel combination.
