EXEL KNEE GUARD ELITE BLACK is a knee guard designed for floorball that's particularly useful during regular training and intense indoor games. Available in size XXS, this model is primarily designed for youth players or players with a very slender build, for whom a smaller size is important to ensure a secure fit.

- Product Type: Floorball knee guards
- Intended use: Indoor training and games
- Model: Elite

Product information

- Fit: Compact design for smaller sizes

Knee pads of this type provide relief during everyday hockey play, especially in situations involving contact with the floor, quick changes of direction, and sliding on indoor surfaces. For younger players in particular, it's not just the area of protection that matters, but also that the equipment doesn't get in the way unnecessarily during movement. The Elite model is positioned within the product line as a sport-oriented option and is therefore well-suited for regular practice sessions at a club or school.

When selecting a size, make sure the knee pads fit snugly enough so that they stay securely in place while running, braking, and during one-on-one situations.
