The FOX 40 ELECTRONIC WHISTLE WITH LANYARD is an electronic whistle designed for training, school, and everyday club activities—situations where clear signals are needed and the whistle needs to be quickly accessible. The lanyard keeps it close to the body, which is practical during frequent breaks, when switching exercises, or when organizing activities on the

In hockey, every clear signal counts—especially for coaches, instructors, and supervisors. An electronic whistle helps you clearly direct activities without having to constantly reach for the whistle. This is particularly convenient during regular training sessions when dividing groups, starting drills, or interrupting game scenarios. Thanks to the included lanyard, the whistle remains within easy reach at all times while moving between the bench, the sideline, and the side of the rink.

Before using it, it's worth taking a quick look at how you plan to use it in your daily training routine—especially if you're specifically looking for an electronic whistle instead of a traditional one.
