Especially during regular indoor sessions, it's important to have a stick that feels balanced from the first pass all the way to the shot. The 29 flex appeals to players who aren't looking for a shaft that's either extremely soft or very stiff. This keeps the stick easy to control in typical game situations, such as bringing the ball off the boards, making quick passes, or shooting on the move. The round shaft shape offers a classic grip and suits a wide range of player types.

When choosing a stick, the blade angle, length, and personal preferences regarding feel should all align. 92 cm is a common length for many youth and adult players.
