CCM STICK WEIGHT is a training accessory for hockey players who want to specifically alter the feel of their stick when not on the ice or in the rink. An additional weight on the stick can help players train their movements more consciously and challenge their stick handling during technical training in ways that differ from the normal setup.

 - Applications: Skill training and off-ice training
 - Training benefit: alters the stick's weight for a more intense feel during movement
 - Application: Designed to be attached to the stick

Product information

- Package Contents: 1 Stick Weight

Especially during repetitive technical training, small adjustments often make a big difference. An additional weight on the stick noticeably alters the balance, thereby creating different challenges in stick handling, control, and rhythm. This is particularly useful in a club setting when exercises need to be intentionally varied or when coaches are looking for simple ways to make familiar drills more challenging.

It's important to secure the weight firmly to the hockey stick being used so that the additional weight remains stable and controlled during practice.
