EXEL X-BLADE NEON YELLOW is a floorball blade designed for players who prioritize a familiar feel when replacing or fine-tuning their stick. The right-handed version with medium stiffness is primarily designed for club players and those who train regularly who want to achieve a balanced combination of ball control and shooting performance.

- Product Type: Floorball Blade
- Model: X-BLADE
- Blade orientation: right
- Hardness: medium
- Intended use: Indoor training and games
- Color: neon yellow

A medium-hardness blade typically strikes a balance between direct feedback and a slightly more forgiving feel. This suits players who handle the ball cleanly, make controlled passes, and don't require an extremely hard touch when finishing. Especially in everyday club play, when a blade needs to be replaced after many sessions, this balance is often sought after because it remains predictable in various game situations.

The blade orientation should match your current stick and your usual handling style.
