Floorball hardness: soft

EXEL ICE LIGHT ORANGE is a floorball blade designed for players who are looking for a direct, honest feel when switching sticks or fine-tuning their equipment. The right-handed version in light orange features a “soft” hardness rating designed for a supple feel on the ball—exactly what’s needed during practice and games for clean ball control, tight dribbling, and controlled passes.

- Product Type: Floorball Blade
- Model: EXEL R ICE
- Blade orientation: right
- Hardness: soft
- Feel: Softer, controlled ball feel
- Intended Use: Floorball training and games indoors
- Color: light orange

A soft-tuned blade is often favored by players who like to actively control the ball and want to handle it cleanly in tight spaces. Especially in everyday club play, when passes need to be handled quickly under pressure, a softer blade design allows for slightly smoother handling. This makes the EXEL Blade an attractive option for technically skilled field players as well as for youth and club players who prefer a setup that’s easy to control.

It’s important to choose the correct blade orientation: This version is designed for right-handed players.
