In everyday use, it's not just the design that matters with these stickers—it's especially important that the material performs reliably outdoors. The PVC film is designed for changing conditions and remains suitable for everyday use even in sunlight, rain, and with regular cleaning. Especially on frequently used surfaces like vehicles or transport crates, the scratch-resistant and waterproof design offers a practical advantage over simple decorative stickers intended for indoor use.

For best results, the surface should be smooth and free of dust and grease before application.
