Floorball hardness: soft

The EXEL Megalomaniac is a floorball blade designed for players who are specifically looking for a soft blade when replacing or fine-tuning their stick setup. The left-handed version in black is aimed at players who value a more direct feel for the ball during practice and games.

- Product Type: Floorball Blade
- Model: Megalomaniac
- Blade orientation: left
- Hardness: soft
- Color: black
- Intended Use: Replacement or spare blade for floorball sticks

A soft blade is often chosen when clean ball control, a refined feel for dribbling, and controlled shots are the top priorities. This balance is particularly noticeable during regular indoor training, as the ball can be guided smoothly along the blade and technical movements feel natural. The Megalomaniac blade is therefore particularly appealing to club players and ambitious youth players who deliberately tailor their stick setup to their own playing style.

An important factor in the selection process is the correct blade orientation: This model is left-handed and is therefore suitable for players who hold the blade on the left side.
