Product information

Brand: WARRIOR

Stick size: JR

The WARRIOR ALPHA DX JR is a composite hockey stick designed for young players looking for a lightweight shaft with direct feedback during practice and games. In the JR version with a right-handed blade orientation, 50 flex, and W03 curve, this model is designed for fast, controlled shooting performance.

- Technology: Exclusive taper design with low kick response and stable release
- Construction: True 1 Phantom construction for a balanced, lightweight overall feel
- Blade core: lightweight polymer core for improved puck feel
- Grip: textured shaft area with APEX coating
- Handling: Ergonomically shaped shaft for a secure grip and precise puck control
- Variant: Right, JR, Hardness 50, Curvature W03
- Color: black

A well-balanced stick makes a noticeable difference, especially for younger players: The shaft sits comfortably in the hand, responds quickly at the moment of release, and provides a clear feel for the puck in tight game situations. The combination of low-kick behavior, a stable release, and a grippy shaft supports direct handling without making the stick feel unnecessarily heavy. This is well-suited for young players in regular club play, where shots on the move and quick stick actions are important.

When selecting a stick, the blade angle, JR size, and 50-hardness should be chosen to match the player's height and strength level.
