Especially in children's and youth hockey, it's helpful when the helmet and cage come as a coordinated set. This simplifies equipment selection and ensures that everything fits together on the ice right from the start. The compact size XS is ideal for young players who need a smaller fit and want their equipment to work seamlessly during everyday practice. This makes the WARRIOR H Alpha YT in white an obvious choice for a player's first team seasons, hockey school, or regular ice time with a club.

For a proper fit, the XS-sized helmet should match the child's head circumference and sit correctly without being too tight or too loose.
