WARRIOR ALPHA LITE JR is an elbow pad designed for youth players, ideal for hockey when agility and a comfortable fit on the ice are essential. The three-piece design supports natural movement in the elbow area, minimizing restrictions on stick handling and arm movements.

- Product Type: Hockey elbow pads
- Construction: Three-piece design for flexible support in the elbow area
- Protection area: Forearm and bicep pads with dual-density foam
- Functionality: Foam absorbs impacts in the relevant area
- Closure: flat-fitting straps, easy to use
- Comfort: Straps do not snag on the jersey
- Size: JR, body protection size S
- Color: black

Especially for juniors, it's important that protective gear doesn't get in the way but moves with the body. That's exactly where this model comes in: The flexible design helps with quick changes of direction and in tight game situations, while the foam zones in key areas provide additional protection during contact and minor impacts. The flat straps sit close to the arm, making it easy to change gear in the locker room or during practice.

For a seamless fit, the JR version in size S should match the rest of the protective gear used in youth sports.
