Product information

Body protection size: XS

WARRIOR ALPHA PRO SR is a shoulder guard designed for players who are looking for a flexible fit with solid coverage during regular practice and games. The flat shoulder shell keeps the profile compact, ensuring the gear sits comfortably under the jersey and is less bulky during quick changes of direction.

- Technology: Max-Protect construction with compression-molded EVA-IMPAX foams
- Protection Area: Additional protectors for the spine and sternum, plus a removable abdominal pad
- Construction: Low-profile design for a flexible, lightweight, and slim fit
- Closure: Lay Flat straps for easy adjustment
- Ventilation: Breathable inner lining for a cooler feel
- Lining: WARTECH FNC in yellow with Polygiene
- Variant: black, size XS, protection size SR

Especially during intense sessions on the ice, you need shoulder pads that seamlessly combine protection and mobility. The foam zones at key impact points provide support where checks, body-to-body battles, or hard contact are felt, while the flat construction doesn't unnecessarily restrict natural movement. Added to this are straps that are easy to adjust and lie flat under the jersey. The breathable inner lining helps make the gear more comfortable to wear, even during longer training sessions.

When selecting a size, the combination of body height and desired level of protection should be a good fit; this is the XS and SR version.
