Body protection size: S

CCM TACKS XF80 SR are elbow pads designed for everyday hockey, where protection and freedom of movement must work together seamlessly. The black version in size SR S is designed for adult players with a slimmer build who are looking for a reliable fit on their arms during practice and games.

- Product Type: Elbow pads for ice hockey
- Model series: TACKS XF80
- Age group: SR
- Size: S
- Protection area: Elbow and forearm
- IntendedUse: Practice and Game
- Color: black

Especially when playing regularly on the ice, it's crucial that an elbow pad not only provides protection but also stays securely in place during stick work, battles along the boards, and quick changes of direction. The TACKS line has been a staple in hockey for years wherever more direct, game-oriented protection is needed. This model fits perfectly into that category and is well-suited for club players as well as ambitious recreational players who want their gear to be coordinated and free of unnecessary bulk.

Important for selection: The SR S should match your arm size and the rest of your protective gear to ensure a clean fit between your shoulder, elbow, and hand protection.
