Body protection size: L

The WARRIOR LX 20 SR elbow pads in black, size L, are designed for players who train and play regularly and need arm protection without sacrificing a snug fit. The elbow, in particular, quickly reveals whether a pad stays in place or constantly slips. This model addresses that issue with targeted padding and a redesigned closure.

Product information

- Protection area: Elbow with additional padding in key impact zones
- Material: Specially molded EVA foam padding with a textured surface
- Closure: Repositioned Fantom-Stretch straps for improved support
- Fit: Hugs the elbow snugly and reduces slippage
- Lining: Breathable Poligiene lining with faster drying
- Moisture Management: Evaporates moisture more quickly for a cooler feel
- Size: SR / L

The combination of EVA foam and additional reinforcement in key areas provides extra protection exactly where impacts and falls are most felt in hockey. At the same time, the newly positioned stretch straps keep the pad closer to the arm—which is especially important during intense sessions, quick changes of direction, and frequent stick use. The Poligiene lining promotes a more comfortable environment inside the pad and dries faster than conventional inner materials, making it significantly more comfortable during daily training or multiple consecutive ice sessions.

For optimal performance, the SR model in size L should fit so that the elbow is snugly enclosed without causing pressure points.
