particularly noticeable during stick handling, one-on-one situations, and quick changes of direction. Available in black and body armor size XS, this model is designed for a compact fit in protection size SR.

- Construction: new 3-piece design for greater freedom of movement in the elbow
- Padding: dual-density foam
- Protection area: Plastic inserts on forearms and biceps
- Closure: New high-quality straps, easy to use and providing a secure fit
- Lining: Yellow Strike lining, quick-drying and easy to care for
- Size: XS / SR
- Color: black

Especially in everyday club life, elbow protection that doesn't feel heavy or uncomfortable even after multiple ice sessions is essential. The combination of a multi-piece construction, contoured foam padding, and additional reinforcements in high-stress areas supports a natural range of motion without compromising protection. Added to this are straps that are easy to adjust and keep the pads securely in place even during more intense sessions.

For a well-coordinated setup, the XS-sized body protector should match the rest of your protective gear and your arm length.
