TRUE AX7 NAVY JR are hockey pants for youth players, designed for regular practice and games where protection, fit, and easy adjustment must all work together. Available in navy and size XL JR, this model is designed for junior players who need their gear to stay securely in place even during quick changes of direction.

- System: AeroSchild Spinal Protection
- Protection Area: Compression-molded HDPE with high-density foam in the hip and thigh areas
- Construction: Pro-Level 840D nylon shell with 2 outer materials
- Closure: Zipper with side release buckles
- Adjustment: Internal strap system
- Inner material: moisture-wicking poly liner
- Fit: optimized fit
- Size: XL JR

Especially for junior players, a well-balanced pair of hockey pants makes all the difference: They shouldn't be too tight, but should still stay securely in place during movement. The optimized fit and the internal strap system help ensure this, while the side closure makes putting them on and taking them off easier. During everyday play, the combination of HDPE, high-density foam, and spine protection provides additional support in high-impact areas without compromising mobility. The durable 840D nylon shell is well-suited for intense club play, and the moisture-wicking inner lining helps ensure a more comfortable feel on the ice.

When it comes to junior pants, it's worth taking a close look at how the sizes align with the rest of the protective gear to ensure that the pants, shin guards, and upper-body protection work together seamlessly.
