WARRIOR WRIST GUARD is a wrist guard for hockey that provides extra support around the wrist. Especially during regular training or everyday club activities, a well-fitting guard is essential for combining mobility with a sense of security. Available in black and size M, this model can be seamlessly integrated into your existing gear.

- Product Type: Wrist guard for hockey
- Protection area: Wrist

Product information

- Intended use: Training, games, and general daily use
- Fit: Size M
- Color: black
- Construction: Specific material and construction details not provided

A wrist guard is usually a good choice when you want a little more stability or protection for your wrist without unnecessarily restricting your stick-handling movements. Especially for club players and youth players in structured training programs, it's important that the equipment fits comfortably and seamlessly integrates into the routine of moving between the locker room, the ice or rink, and game play. This model fits perfectly into that scenario.

To ensure the right fit, size M should match the circumference of your wrist and provide the desired snugness.
