Especially in goal, it's not just about size—it's also about how well the pads fit with the rest of your gear. The combination of the SR design and 34 inches + 3 inches appeals to goalies looking for a full-size fit and who value clear guidance when choosing equipment. This is especially helpful in everyday club life, when gear is regularly used in practice and during weekend games.

When it comes to leg pads, the chosen length should match the player's height, goaltending style, and the rest of their protective gear.
