The CCM RH RBZ 150 Overpants are a practical addition to your everyday indoor or inline hockey gear when you need a lightweight pair of hockey pants to wear over your regular equipment. Available in junior size S and navy, this model is particularly well-suited for youth hockey, where freedom of movement, a clean fit, and easy-to-wear gear during practice are essential.

- Product Type: Overpants for hockey
- Intended Use: Indoor and inline hockey, training, and games
- Model: RH RBZ 150
- Age group: Junior
- Size: S
- Color: navy with black/navy accents
- Fit: Designed to be worn over hockey gear

For young players in particular, it's important to have pants that don't feel restrictive during running drills, when changing direction, or in tight game situations. Overpants like these keep the gear together as a single unit and ensure a neat, secure fit over the protective gear worn underneath. This is especially important for junior players and parents when preparing gear regularly for club practices or game days—ensuring everything fits perfectly without any hassle.

When choosing overpants for hockey, it's worth checking the appropriate junior size to ensure there's enough room over the pants and protective gear without the fit being too loose.
