Especially for younger club goalies and players transitioning to the next higher equipment class, a stick must not only fit their height but also feel natural during movement. The 24-inch Intermediate model offers a standard length that supports controlled stick handling in the crease. The T31 curve and Regular orientation are ideal for goalies who rely on a familiar blade feel when passing, directing low pucks, and working along the ice.

The most important factors to consider when selecting a stick are length, curvature, and the correct orientation for the catching hand.
