Especially during regular training sessions, equipment that works reliably is essential. Shorts from the Alpha X line are well-suited for sessions involving lots of movement, quick changes of direction, and repeated exertion—all of which are standard in hockey. The understated navy color also pairs easily with team uniforms and other training gear, which is especially practical for clubs and teams.

When choosing training shorts, it's worth considering the desired range of motion and the appropriate adult size within your existing team or equipment setup.
