In hockey, in particular, functional clothing is just as essential as the equipment itself. A thermal jacket like this helps keep your body from getting cold before warm-ups and keeps you comfortably wrapped up between workouts. For club players, this is especially practical during winter play or on longer days in the rink, when training, travel, and short wait times all come together. The Unrivaled model is clearly designed as a sports-oriented jacket rather than purely casual wear.

When choosing a size, the most important factor is finding the right senior size. This version is available in SR M.
