In club sports in particular, there's a demand for tops that not only perform well on the sidelines but also remain comfortable during off-ice or indoor training sessions. The cotton content ensures a soft feel against the skin, while polyester makes the shirt easy to care for and supports you in your active daily life. The spandex blend adds a bit of extra flexibility, which can be noticeable during dynamic exercises and with frequent wear.

When selecting a size, go with the listed women's size M.
