Product information

- Application: For maintaining and preparing the visor before use

Unlike a simple cleaning product, an anti-fog treatment is designed to maintain clear vision even when breathing, temperature, and physical exertion combine. This is particularly helpful during regular club activities, when there's little time for extensive equipment maintenance between the locker room, the ice, and the bench. A simple solution can also be useful for youth players with visors in everyday situations, as it gets the equipment back into playing condition more quickly.

Before use, briefly check whether the product is compatible with the existing visor surface and apply it only to a clean surface.
