SHOCK DOCTOR GEL MAX MOUTHGUARD in size SR is a mouthguard designed for everyday hockey play, when a securely fitting mouthguard is needed on the field or in the arena. The name "Gel Max" refers to a gel construction, which in this type of product ensures a snug fit and greater comfort.

- Product Type: Mouthguard for hockey and other contact sports
- System: Gel Max construction
- Fit: Contoured for a secure fit in the mouth

Product information

- Comfort: Designed for comfort during training and games
- Size: SR
- Intended use: Training, games, and school sports involving physical contact

Especially during regular club activities, what matters most in a mouthguard isn't just the protective aspect, but also whether the model stays securely in place during longer sessions and doesn't cause unnecessary discomfort when breathing or speaking. A gel model like the Gel Max is therefore particularly suited for older youth players and adults who are looking for a reliable solution for hockey training and games without being limited to a simple, one-size-fits-all design.

Size SR is suitable for seniors. To ensure the right choice of equipment, the size should match the player's age and jaw shape.
