BLUE SPORTS PUCK GREEN BISCUIT ALIEN is a training puck designed for off-ice hockey drills that focus on proper stick technique, quick hands, and smooth puck contact. The green "Alien" version is particularly well-suited for regular stick-handling and passing drills, such as those commonly performed during club practice or individual skill training.

Product information

- Product Type: Hockey training puck

- Functionality: Designed for gliding motion during skill training
- Training benefits: Supports fluid puck control on hard surfaces
- Variant: Alien
- Color: green
- Contents: 1 puck

Especially for players who regularly work on their technique, a training puck that allows for controlled movements and doesn't get in the way unnecessarily during tight dribbling is essential. That's exactly where the Green Biscuit comes in: for drills in the basement, on the front yard, or in an ice-free indoor facility—when repetition, rhythm, and stick feel are more important than hard shots. This type of puck is also useful for youth coaches looking to build a solid foundation in basic skills.

Designed for smooth, firm surfaces; intended for classic off-ice technical training.
