The TRUE CATALYST 7X3 SR is a composite hockey stick designed for field players who are looking for a direct, responsive stick for everyday club play without breaking the bank. In the SR version—with a right-handed blade orientation, 95 stiffness, and a length of 62 inches—this model is primarily designed for adult players who prefer a tight feel when shooting and a light, agile feel when handling the puck.

- Product Type: Composite ice hockey stick for field players
- Playing feel: lightweight design with a balanced combination of agility and shooting power
- Shooting performance: Designed for fast, powerful shots
- Blade: Responsive blade design for a clean feel on the puck
- Curvature: T92
- Stiffness: 95
- Version: Right-handed, SR, 62 inches
- Color: black

It's especially during regular practice and games that you realize just how important the interplay of weight, stiffness, and blade feel is. The stiff 95 model supports players with a powerful shot, while the T92 bend offers a familiar blend of control, passing, and finishing. The overall light feel aids in quick moves along the boards, faceoffs, and rapid shot release.

When choosing a stick, the 62-inch length should be suited to your height and your own movement patterns.
